01:00:01	SAMANTHA (VO): Ever wonder what it means to "go green"? To get unplugged? To embrace the natural world? Well, I'm about to find out. You may think this is the Amazon, but it's actually Costa Rica. SAMANTHA: I brought my trusty oar with me. SAMANTHA (VO): Then, we're about to discover a canyon in one of the most remote areas of Mexico that some say is even grander than our own Grand Canyon.
	SAMANTHA: Oh, my goodness! Are you sure this is a road?
01:00:31	SAMANTHA (VO): We also found a really wild experience right next to Yellowstone National Park. It's one of the wildest places in America. And going green here doesn't mean roughing it.
	SAMANTHA: Plumbing, I love you!
	SAMANTHA (VO) : It's all next on Show Name.
01:01:59	SAMANTHA: I found three very special lodges that, when you get there, not only are you not a part of thousands of tourists, you may be the only tourist. They're green getaways, and getting there is absolutely a part of the adventure when you can get there. You're just a part of this incredible world that is just absolutely indescribable. Like the lodge I found in Costa Rica

01:01:31	SAMANTHA (VO): I'm in San Jose, capital of tiny Costa Rica. Hey, but don't let its size fool you. Costa Rica might be one of the smallest countries in the Americas, but get this, there are over twenty-five National Parks and preserves taking up over a quarter of the entire country. And that's why I'm here.
01:01:51	SAMANTHA : Ola!
	TAXI DRIVER: Ola, good morning.
	SAMANTHA : Como esta?
	TAXI DRIVER : Muy bien. E tu?
	SAMANTHA: Oh, muy bien. Gracias. Can this coche take me to the jungle?
	TAXI DRIVER : Oh, yes, of course.
	SAMANTHA: Si? All right! First jungle, any jungle.
	TAXI DRIVER : Any jungle.
01:02:11	SAMANTHA (VO): I'm heading to Porto Vado, a tent camp on the Pacific Coast. No electricity, no phone. And I have just a two-hour window to fly in before high tide washes the trail away.
	TAXI DRIVER : Vamos al a aeropuerto?
	SAMANTHA: La pequeno, see, the small. Not the big.
	TAXI DRIVER: The local. Local airport.
